Artists at Work invites you to enjoy and experience the creative process in studios and galleries across Salem County. With a backdrop of beautiful Fall colors, there's much to see - glass-working, ceramics, painting, photography, wood-turning, sculpture, leatherworking, fiber arts and more. Many of the artists are offering hands-on activities to help you explore your own creativity and talents!

Make it a weekend! Many restaurants are offering special discounts and Saturday night you can enjoy an evening of world class acoustic music at Appel Farm Arts and Music Center, 457 Shirley Rd., Elmer, NJ. Girlyman, with special guests Po'Girl, takes the stage at 8:00 pm at the Claire Rostan Appel Theatre. Hailed by The Village Voice as "really good, really unexpected and really different," Girlyman features a wide range of instruments—acoustic guitar, banjo, mandolin, djembe, electric baritone guitar—to create their unique eclectic sound. Band members switch off lead vocals and songwriting duties, but it is the stunning three-part vocal blend that creates the Girlyman magic. Artists at Work tourgoers can receive a $3 discount on tickets; just use code AW1010 when ordering tickets. Call (800) 394-1211; www.appelfarm.org

Most of the sites on the tour are accessible. Alternate accommodations will be made where needed and by request.

Come and enjoy the arts in our quaint towns and quiet countryside as you "discover the possibilities" in Salem County.

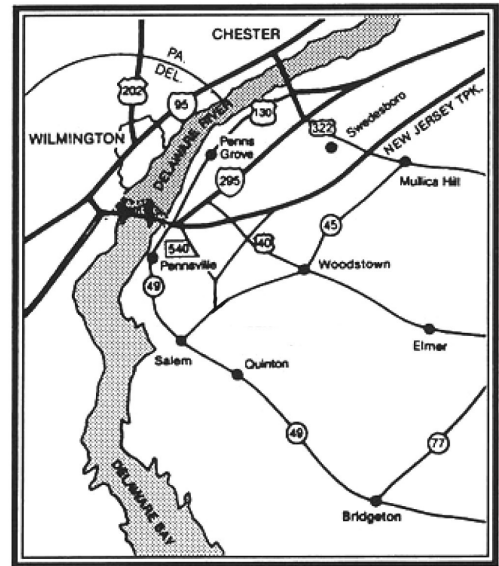

We invite you to share your thoughts about this event by filling out a comment card or participating in our on-line survey at www.salemcountynj.gov (look for the link at "Top Stories").

GETTING AROUND SALEM COUNTY

Discover the arts along Salem County's rural highways and byways. Three major highways—Routes 40, 45, and 49—connect Elmer, Woodstown and Salem. For locations off these roads we have suggested driving directions from the nearest town.

The Salem County Visitors Center, 1 New Market St., in downtown Salem, (856) 935-9242, has more detailed maps of the County and is open daily 10 am—4 pm.

Stop by and “discover the possibilities” in Salem County.
